

Future Highlights

Vision – 2017

The University-Grants-Commission in its policy of Higher Education recognized Extension as the third dimension of the institution of higher education. The earlier two dimensions are teaching and research. The Universities and Colleges having institutional resources- Knowledge, Manpower and Physical, have an obligation to develop sensitivities to involve the development of the community to overall and diverse learning needs of all the segments of the people of the community. The third dimension is aimed at meaningful and sustainable interaction between Universities & Communities.

The University-Grants-Commission (UGC) through its various Guidelines from 1977 to 2009 (XI Plan) provided opportunities to the Departments of Adult, Continuing Education/Departments of Lifelong Learning & Extension to undertake teaching (Undergraduate and Postgraduate, Short-term, Diploma, Certificate and self financing courses), Research (Ph.D, M.Phil, Research Project & Evaluation), Extension & Community Outreach (College & Community level). The subsequent Guidelines focused on developing networking and partnership building with voluntary and corporate sectors.

The recent XI plan Guidelines authorized the Universities to develop university specific programmes keeping in view the expertise of the faculty and local needs. The UGC also allowed the Department to undertake innovative courses to generate new knowledge through Research and Publication.

The XI plan guidelines of Lifelong Learning & Extension is reported in the statutory bodies i.e. Academic and Executive Council of the University. The UGC allowed the Department to explore other sources for raising funds in addition to the UGC Grants. Conducting self financial courses is essential for the sustainability of the Department.
